

Cookies and how you use this website

To make this website easier to use, we sometimes place small text files on your device (for example your iPad or laptop) called “cookies”. Most big websites do this too. They improve things by:

- remembering the things you have chosen while on our website, so you do not have to keep re-entering them whenever you visit a new page
- remembering data you have given (for example, your address) so you do not need to keep entering it
- measuring how you use the website so we can make sure it meets your needs

By using our website, you agree that we can place these types of cookies on your device. We do not use cookies on this website that collect information about what other websites you visit (often referred to as “privacy intrusive cookies”). Our cookies are not used to identify you personally. They are just here to make the site work better for you. You can manage and/or delete these files as you wish.

To learn more about cookies and how to manage them, visit AboutCookies.org or watch a video about cookies.

Turning off cookies

You can stop cookies being downloaded on to your computer, or other device, by selecting the appropriate settings on your browser. If you do this you may not be able to use the full functionality of this website.

There is more information about how to delete or stop using cookies on AboutCookies.org. You can also opt out of being tracked by Google Analytics.

Further guidance on the use of personal information can be found at ico.org.uk.